Case Study: How, Why and When to Partner with a Records Storage Facility

Guest Speakers: Martha Mayer, Access Company (formerly Business Data Records Services) and Natasha Krentz, Northrop Grumman Innovation Systems

The purpose of an off-site records storage facility has changed over time. No longer are they simply a warehouse to store boxes. They have evolved into a full service information management partner. Though an increasing amount of the RIM world is electronic, we still have hardcopy records to handle, whether they are new or historical. This case study will examine the many ways the RIM professional can best take advantage of all of the services offered. Natasha Krentz (CRM, CIP) and Martha Mayer will be sharing their knowledge in an open forum format. They will encourage you to share your knowledge along with success stories and the not so successful stories.

We encourage you to invite others to join us.
