

Mark Lanterman is the Chief Technology Officer of Computer Forensic Services. Before entering the private sector, Mark was a member of the U.S. Secret Service Electronic Crimes Taskforce. Mark has 28 years of security and forensic experience and has testified in over 2000 cases. Mark is faculty for the Federal Judicial Center in Washington, D.C., the National Judicial College in Reno, Nevada, the University of Minnesota, and the Mitchell Hamline Law School. Mark is a professor in the cybersecurity program at the St. Thomas School of Law in Minneapolis, Minnesota. Mark has provided training in digital evidence, computer forensics and cyber security to the United States Supreme Court. He has also presented to the 8th and 11th Circuit Federal Judicial Conferences as well as numerous State and Federal Judicial Conferences across the United States. Mark completed his postgrad studies in cybersecurity at Harvard University and is certified as a Seized Computer Evidence Recovery Specialist (SCERS) by the Department of Homeland Security. Mark is a member of the Minnesota Lawyers Professional Responsibility Board and serves as Chairman of its Opinions Committee.

Ken Withers is the Deputy Executive Director of The Sedona Conference, a non-profit, non-partisan law and policy think tank based in Phoenix, AZ. Since 1989, he has published several widely-distributed papers on electronic discovery and given presentations before more than 500 judicial, legal, records management, and technology industry audiences, including “Ephemeral Data and the Duty to Preserve Discoverable Electronically Stored Information” in the University of Baltimore Law Review (2008); “Living Daily with Weekly Homes” in the Texas State Bar Advocate (Summer 2010); and “Risk Aversion, Risk Management, and the Over-preservation Problem in Electronic Discovery” in the South Carolina Law Review (2013). Ken is co-author, with the Honorable Shira A. Scheindlin (retired) and Professor Daniel J. Capra, of the most widely used law school textbook on electronic discovery and evidence. From 1999 through 2005, he was a Senior Education Attorney at the Federal Judicial Center in Washington D.C. and contributed to several well-known Federal Judicial Center publications, including the Manual for Complex Litigation, Fourth Edition (2004), Effective Use of Courtroom Technology (2001), and the Civil Litigation Management Manual (2001). Ken received his J.D. from Northwestern University, Chicago, and his master’s in library science from Simmons University, Boston.

Andrew Ysasi MS, FIP, FIIM, CIPM, CIGO, CISM, PMP, CRM, IGP, CIP, CSAP has 25 years of experience in executive leadership, technology, privacy, security, and information governance. As Vice President of Advocacy for VRC, Andrew is tasked with mentoring, educating, volunteering, and advocating for all matters related to information governance (IG). He will serve as the President of ICRM in 2022. Andrew is the President of IG GURU®, an IG news organization and a resume expert with Admovio®, where his work is published on CIO.com. In addition, Andrew is an instructor at San Jose State University's School of Information, a contributor to ARMA's IGBOK, a contributor to Wiley's Information Governance 2nd Edition, and a former board member for i-SIGMA. Andrew has a Master of Science in Administration from Central Michigan University, a Bachelor of Science in information technology, and a certificate in data analytics from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania.

Rosanne Stoltz, MSL, MBA, CRM, CIP is a Senior Records Manager in the Records & Information Management Center of Expertise at Cargill. She is responsible for the company's records retention schedules for 70+ countries, which includes global legal and business requirements research, publication of annual updates, training, and implementation support, as well as other RIM projects related to Enterprise Content Management, Uniform Classification Plan, and Electronic Recordkeeping Requirements. Cargill was recognized as "Company of the Year" by the Twin Cities Chapter of ARMA in May, 2017. Rosanne has been working in the field of Records and Information Management for over 30 years and is currently the Secretary of the Twin Cities Chapter of ARMA.

Bill Roach, MSL, CRM, is a Senior IG Analyst for Xcel Energy in Minneapolis, MN. He is responsible for the company's records retention schedule and is working to modernize Xcel's approach to RIM. Bill has more than forty years of experience in Records Management, eDiscovery, and Enterprise Content Management. He has worked in a variety of industries, including construction, defense, financial services, government, mining, and utilities.